At Fort Yuma a young man took passage by the stage for the First. He stated to the passengers that he had made a $100 in one week, and had sold his cleim for $100. He was returning home sick and disheartened on account of the privations to which he had been obliged to submit, and on account of the creat amount of labor required to make rold digging et all prelitable.

The passengers inform us that about an hour after eaving San Brancisco there was a whock of an earthpake, which was experienced for a considerable instruce along the line of travel. It lasted some evenuates. It was felt more severely at San Jose, 50 miles from San Francisco, where it shook the dastering from the walls of most of the buildings, it was not felt by the passengers, as the alogs at the ime was jogging along over a very bad piece of oad. No damage was austained at any point other han that mentioned above, although it is earnised that at San Francisco it must have been very nearly not quite as severe as at San Jose.

There was quite a sand storm on the "Desert," at the wind blowing from the West it did not imide the progress of this mail. The stage going jest, however, was othiged to lay by for a time. Mr. Beardales informs us that the Gila gold mines we are not as any in California.
